A train of powder (eBook, 2010) [WorldCat.org]

A Train of Powder. A New York Times bestseller, this riveting account of the Nuremberg trials by a legendary journalist is simply “astonishing” (Francine Prose). Sent to cover the war crimes trials at Nuremberg for the New Yorker, Rebecca West brought along her inimitable skills for understanding a place and its people.

As is probably obvious from the cover art, A Train of Powder is a collection of six articles she wrote while covering various criminal trials. They read more like short stories than like magazine articles because the author A group I belong to was doing a challenge throughout the month of October to read books by or about people or places in Ireland.

"A Train of Powder should be given to every juror in every capital case to supplement the judge's instructions. . . . As compelling as Court TV but without the frisson of voyeurism (and with the compensatory satisfactions of West's breathtakingly lucid prose style), these elegant narratives remind us of the preciousness and fragility of our right to trial by jury."
